ADMINISTRATIVE VOLUME.

Chapter I.—Enumeration.

I.—OPENING REMARKS.

Introductory.—A short review of the course of Census Operations is given in the Introduction to the Report, Part I. This Volume deals, in detail, with the various subjects connected with the Administrative arrangements in Rajputana and Ajmer-Merwara, and is intended only for the guidance of future Superintendents of Census Operations, and for the use of the local Administrative authorities.

- 2. Appointment of Provincial Census Superintendent.—I took charge, as Provincial Superintendent of Census, on the 21st April, 1920, but the work actually started from May 1st, 1920, on which date the Deputy Superintendent and the Head Clerk were appointed. In 1911, the head-quarters of the Provincial Census office were at Mount Abu. With a view to obviate certain difficulties, such as those of securing competent staff on reasonable pay, etc., etc., they were established, this time, at Ajmer, which occupies a central position in the Provinces and is easily accessible to every State in Rajputana. It may, with advantage, be given preference to Mount Abu in future Censuses also.
- 3. Appointment of Local Census Superintendents and District Census Officers.—As suggested by Mr. Kealy in his Administrative Report of the last Census, the Hon'ble the Agent to the Governor-General, Rajputana, and Chief Commissioner, Ajmer-Merwara, moved the Darbars, in December 1919 through the Political Officers concerned, to arrange for the appointment of Census Superintendents in their respective States for carrying out Census operations, under the direct supervision of the Provincial Census Superintendent. Amongst the Local Census Superintendents so appointed and whose names are given in Appendix A, those in Dholpur, Jaipur, Jhalawar, Lawa, Marwar and Mewar had previous experience of Census as Superintendents, or Assistant or Deputy Superintendents, and all were acquainted with English.
- 4. Direct Correspondence.—As in 1911, the Darbars kindly consented to allow direct correspondence between their respective Local Census Superintendents or Industrial Census Officers and myself on all census matters, except on such as required to be communicated through the Political Officers.
- 5. Building for Office.—No Government building was available for the Census office, nor could a suitable and commodious private house be secured at the out-set; the office had therefore to be temporarily opened in a small building kindly lent by Diwan Bahadur Seth Umed Mal Lodha. On 18th June, 1920, it was moved to a building near the Public Works Inspection House, where it continued till 13th October, 1921, when another change had to be made.
- 6. Old Files and Records.—The records preserved at the Census of 1911 proved of immense value. General Village Registers, etc., were carefully preserved by the Indian States and were used advantageously. In the British District of Ajmer-Merwara, though expressly ordered to be preserved, some of the records were, by an unfortunate mistake, destroyed, and their absence caused unnecessary delay in the starting of the work. Clear instructions have again been issued, this time, as to the papers which are to be preserved for future use and it is earnestly hoped that the District and State Officers concerned will make it a special point to see that they are strictly followed.

The more important Provincial records of the present Census have been carefully packed in boxes for use in the next Census and deposited in the Rajputana Agency Office. A list of its contents has been placed in each box and a duplicate copy left in File No. 248 of 1921, 'Preservation and Disposal of Census Records.' The details of the records so preserved are given in Appendix B to this Volume.

7. Establishment.—The Provincial Census Superintendent's Office had two branches, viz., (1) English Office, which generally carried on office work and (2) Compilation Office, wherein the figures received from the States in Rajputana were consolidated and final Tables prepared for the Provinces of Rajputana and Ajmer-Merwara. The office for Sorting, Compilation and Tabulation for Ajmer-Merwara

8. Progress Report.—In July, 1920, instructions were issued to the District Census Officers in the British Districts and to the Local Census Superintendents in the Rajputana States for the submission of fortnightly reports of the work in their areas. These reports were regularly received and helped to keep me in touch with the progress of the operations. Reports from advanced States or Districts were quoted with effect, as object lessons to those which were backward, though such occasions were rare.

- 9. Tours by Provincial Census Superintendent.—The tours made by me are detailed in Appendix C. I was, however, unavoidably prevented, to my great disappointment, from visiting Dungarpur, Jaisalmer, Kushalgarh and Lawa.
- 10. Visits of the Census Commissioner.—The Census Commissioner met the Hon'ble the Agent to the Governor-General, Rajputana, at Ajmer on 19th February, 1920. He also discussed matters with the Provincial Census Superintendent, whose appointment had not till then been officially announced. He paid four more visits to Ajmer, viz., on March 4th and December 3rd, 1921, and February 27th and August 7th, 1922. His visits proved very helpful in the disposal of difficult questions.
- 11. Forms adopted.—The Schedule prescribed for British India was adopted throughout Rajputana and Ajmer-Merwara. In some cases, the Darbars issued their own separate forms for the collection of additional information regarding the census of cattle, etc. According to the instructions of the Census Commissioner, the Household Schedules were very sparingly issued.
- 12. Tables adopted.—The Government of India suggested the compilation of Imperial Tables I—XXII and the Provincial Tables I and II. Tables XIX, XX and XXI-B were optional. Of these, only XXI-B (Occupation by Caste) was compiled here. A special Table, showing Immigrants by Age-periods, Occupations, etc., was also compiled for the City of Ajmer, and appears as Table XI-B. I compiled, on my own initiative for the Capital Town of each State and for the City of Ajmer, another special Table XVII-B, showing Selected Occupations by Age-periods. Under Resolution of the Government of India, the following changes have taken place in the order of the Imperial Tables:—

Imperial Tables of 1911.	Imperial Tables of 1921.

- 13. Distribution of Reports.—Printed Volumes of Tables and Reports were, as usual, supplied free to the Darbars, and the Political and Local Officers in Rajputana and Ajmer-Merwara. Details are given in Appendix D.
- 14. Grant of Sanads.—As most of the Census staff connected with the actual Enumeration, consisted of unpaid non-officials, good work done by them was rewarded by the grant of Sanads in various classes as below:—

First Class.—Printed in gold on superior paper. Second Class.—Printed in red on white paper. Third Class.—Printed in black on white paper.

As suggested by Mr. Kealy, Sanads were granted on a far more liberal scale this time. The table in the margin shows the number of each kind of Sanad awarded in 1921, as compared with 1911. The correspondence in this connection will be found in File No. 164 of 1921. In respect of the execution of Enumeration work in the Ajmer-Merwara

Province, the following observations of Major R. A. Lyall and Colonel S. B. Patterson, who were District Magistrates at the time of the actual Census, deserve attention:—

Major Lyall.—" Allowing for exceptional difficulties of the Census, owing to its coincidence with the Urs Mela, and the prevalence of non-cooperative ideas, I think this is the last Census, which it will be found to be workable on a voluntary basis. In future, the Government of India will have to pay the workers or lay the burden of payment on Local and Municipal authorities."

Colonel Patterson.—"I fully endorse Major Lyall's remarks in his note, dated the 17th May, 1921, and feel convinced that, at the next Census, Government will not be able to rely on voluntary workers. Census statistics are getting more elaborate and one cannot expect a large number of men to devote a large part of their spare time in collecting statistics in which they take not the remotest interest."

My own experience leads me strongly to corroborate these views, and I cannot too strongly urge the advisability of the question being given serious consideration long beforehand at the next Census.

II.—DRAFTING, TRANSLATING AND PRINTING OF RULES AND FORMS.

- 15. Drafting of the Code, etc.—To inaugurate the work of Census, an Introductory Note, giving a brief survey of the whole course of Census Operations, was drafted, printed and circulated in the month of June, 1920. It would have been possible to issue it a month earlier, had difficulties not arisen in the Press entrusted with the printing of the Note. The Provincial Census Code followed Chapter by Chapter. It was generally based on the principles laid down in the Census Code for India, modified in matters of detail, as required by local conditions prevailing in the Provinces. In 1911, separate Provincial Census Codes for use in (1) Ajmer-Merwara and (2) Rajputana were issued. In practice they were almost identical, and to save unnecessary expenditure and time, it was decided, with the approval of the Hon'ble the Agent to the Governor-General, Rajputana, and Chief Commissioner, Ajmer-Merwara, to issue only one Code this time for bothmatters specially relating to Rajputana being printed in italics. The first part of the Provincial Code was printed at a local press and the second at Perry's Press, Lucknow. In addition to the Code, small pamphlets containing instructions to Charge Superintendents, Supervisors and Enumerators were also issued. These instructions were supplemented, from time to time, by Circular letters which are contained in File No. 249 of 1921.
- 16. Translation.—The Census Code and the Introductory Note were not translated, as the vernacular translations of the Manuals, etc., in Hindi and Urdu, which were made in my office and personally checked by me, contained all the information required by those of the Census staff who did not know English.
- 17. Printing.—The Imperial Census Code required that the printing should be done at the local Government Press, but the Abu Agency Government Press, being too small and having its hands full, could not undertake the Census work. the instructions required at the Enumeration stage, as well as those connected with Slip-Copying, Sorting and Compilation, excepting instructions for sorting Tables XVII and XVIII, were printed locally by Jain Sudharak, Vedic, Star, and Sukhdeo Sahai Presses. Instructions for sorting the above-mentioned two Tables, and Enumeration Books, Block Lists for Cantonments, Slip-Copying Registers, Sorters' Tickets and Compilation Registers (excepting Compilation Registers for Table XVIII which were printed at the Scottish Mission Industries Company, Limited, Ajmer), were printed at the Newal Kishore Press, Lucknow. The bulk of the Copying Slips were printed at Perry's Press, Lucknow, and a limited quantity at the Newal Kishore Press. A great deal of inconvenience and anxiety was caused by the extreme delay with which the Abstraction Slips were supplied by Perry's Printing Press. Their rates were cheaper than those of the Newal Kishore Press by Rs. 2 per 100,000 of slips, which prompted me to accept their tender. But the inability of Perry's Press to cope with the demand coupled with lack of management on their part resulted in the frustration of all the schemes I had formulated for the early start and quick consummation of the Slip-Copying work. The sad experience gained by me impels me to suggest that in future the lowest tender alone should not be made the sole basis for the acceptance of contracts for large works, unless the competency of the machinery and the staff of the Press, to which the work is entrusted, is a guarantee against all possible chances of disappointment. The work turned out by the Newal Kishore Press, Lucknow, was not only excellent in every way but was executed promptly. The printing of the Report, including Tables and Administrative Volumes, was done by the Government of India Press at Calcutta.

18. Supply of paper for Forms.—The following table shows the quantity of paper purchased, the forms for which it was used and the Mills by which it was supplied:—

Printing charges of other Forms included cost of paper and experience shows that it is invariably advantageous to have printing done by Presses which are able to include the supply of paper in their contract.

III.—THE PRELIMINARY OPERATIONS.

19. General Register.—The first step, necessary in the arrangement for a Census, is the preparation of a complete list of villages and hamlets called the General Village Register, which the Local Census Superintendents and the District Census Officers compiled in the form below:—

The submission of General Village Registers, being bulky things, was dispensed with in Rajputana, and only abstracts thereof were asked for in the following form:—

Since forms of the General Register and of the Abstract, for Towns and Cities, were not given in the Administrative Volume of 1911, the Local Census Superintendents and District Census Officers were unable to compile registers separately for the Urban areas till Chapter II of the Census Code containing samples of these forms was issued. To avoid delay in the compilation of these registers in future, sample forms of the Register and Abstract for Urban areas are given below:—

These Abstracts were carefully checked in my office on receipt and approval communicated to the Local Census Superintendents concerned.

In Rajputana, the first unit to submit the Abstract General Village Register was Mount Abu District (26th March, 1920), and the last, Udaipur (21st July, 1920). The Ajmer-Merwara Registers were received in the Rajputana Agency Office on 2nd April, 1920. These Registers were compiled from the existing registers and were carefully checked on the spot. In Ajmer-Merwara, the previous lists were not found, but as the Khalsa area of the District is sub-divided, for the purposes of Land Records, into Patwari Circles and the corrected village records are deposited in Tahsils and District Head-quarters, these registers could be easily compiled. A larger part of the Istimrari area remains still unsurveyed, but as the correct lists of villages comprised in each Estate were available, no difficulty was experienced in preparing the registers for that area too. In the States of Rajputana, such as Jaipur and Mewar, etc., which have not been surveyed nor subjected to Settlement Operations, the Local Census Superintendents had to make elaborate enquiries to make their registers complete and accurate.

20. Arrangements for training the Census Staff.—The accuracy of entries in the Schedules practically depends on the training of the Census staff. As the printing of the Schedules is started early, the instructions on the cover need a good deal of supplementing in respect of points raised and decided after the type-plates have been cast. Before the writing of the preliminary record was taken in hand, the Enumerators and Supervisors were systematically and methodically trained in the duties of actual enumeration. The Local Census Superintendents and the District Census Officers were required to move about and collect the Charge Superintendents and Supervisors at central places for practical training in the Census work, by explaining to them the General Schedule column by column. Oral instructions were supplemented by test enumerations, for which some blank Schedules were provided for each of the staff. The training schedules filled in by the Charge Superintendents and corrected by the Local Census Superintendents were put up to me for examination, while those written by the Supervisors and Enumerators were corrected by the Charge Superintendents and put up to the Local Census Superintendents for scrutiny. The object was that the instructions should filter down from the Local Census Superintendents and the District Census Officers to the Enumerators so that the Enumerators need not be asked to attend at Centres far away from their homes.

While on tour, I myself took opportunities of holding training classes in the presence of the Local Census Superintendents and District Census Officers, which were attended by as many Charge Superintendents, Supervisors and Enumerators as could conveniently be assembled on the spot.

IV.—THE CENSUS DIVISIONS.

21. Formation.—The details of the Census Divisions and Agencies will be found in Statement I appended to this Chapter. Instructions regarding the formation of Census Divisions are given in Chapter III of the Provincial Census Code, Part I. The Local Census Superintendents and the District Census Officers, in consultation with the Charge Superintendents, settled the number of blocks into which each village was to be divided. The size of the Block depended on the number of the houses, the enumeration of which could be conveniently carried out by an Enumerator within the appointed time on the night of the Census. The list of Blocks so prepared was finally revised after the house-numbering was completed. The sources from which Census Agencies were drawn are detailed in Statement 1 (A).

22. Preparation of Census Maps.—Census Maps were prepared in all the States and Districts in Rajputana and Ajmer-Merwara, except the Mewar State. In these maps particulars of Census Divisions were also marked and proved very useful in all the preliminary operations. They were inspected and returned to Census Officers concerned, with remarks where necessary, for record in their respective offices.

23. Charge Superintendents.—In Ajmer-Merwara, the Tahsildars and Naib-Tahsildars were the Charge Superintendents in their respective Revenue Circles in the Ajmer Tahsil, while in Merwara each Tahsil was in itself a Charge with the Tahsildar as its Superintendent and the Naib-Tahsildar as assistant. The Istimrari area of Ajmer was divided into three charges:—

- (1) The Kekri Istimrari area, under the Sub-Divisional Officer, Kekri,
- (2) The Bhinai Istimrari area, under the Manager of Bhinai, and
- (3) The Ajmer Istimrari area, under the Istimrari Girdawar.

There are three Municipalities in Ajmer-Merwara, viz., Ajmer, Beawar and Kekri. The Charge Superintendents in the last two were their respective Chairmen. In Beawar, the Chairman was assisted by his Secretary. The Ajmer Municipality was divided into the following charges:—

Serial No	Census Division.	Charge Superintendent.	Assistant Charge Superintendent.
1. ;	Ajmer Town, excluding Railway premises and settlement.	Chairman, Municipal Committee, Ajmer.	(1) Munshi Debi Prasad, Municipal Commissioner, for suburbs, (2) Rai Sahib Babu Ram Bilas,
	A STATE OF THE STA		Municipal Commissioner, for area within City walls.
2	Railway premises and settlement.	Mr. S. Timothy, Retired Station Superintendent, Ajmer.
3 .	Mayo College	Principal, Mayo College, Ajmer.	***
4 .	Military area	Lieutenant Grant, Staff Officer, Ajmer.	•••

Special arrangements were made for the enumeration of persons in the Dargah precincts and of pilgrims.

Census in the Ajmer City presented innumerable difficulties to overcome which special tact and incessant supervision was required. Practically nobody considered himself responsible for the work allotted to him. To avoid a recurrence of the difficulties experienced this time, it is strongly recommended that the Charge Superintendent for the City of Ajmer should be an official not below the rank of Extra Assistant Commissioner or Deputy Superintendent of Police, assisted by the Chairman of the Municipal Committee. The supervising staff should, as far as practicable, be selected from Government, Railway and Municipal officers.

In the States in Rajputana, a Revenue administrative division generally formed a Charge in the Rural area, and the Officer-in-charge of the division, viz., Tahsildar, Nazim or Hakim was the Charge Superintendent; in the Urban areas, where there was a Municipality, its Chairman held the charge and, in large Cities and Towns, like Jaipur, Jodhpur and Udaipur, a special officer was appointed Charge Superintendent.

Excepting in Cities and Towns, Supervisors in the Rajputana States, were practically all officials, holding position equivalent to that held by Patwaris in British Districts. In Ajmer-Merwara, Patwaris were Supervisors in the Khalsa area and Kamdars generally in the Istimrari. In Cities and Towns, both in Rajputana and Ajmer-Merwara, Municipal Commissioners and other officials or in some cases non-officials performed that duty. The majority of Enumerators were non-officials.

24. Appointment Orders.—Parwanas of appointment were issued to all Census Officers in Ajmer-Merwara. The Indian States made their own appointments.

V.—THE HOUSE-NUMBERING.

25. Time and Agency.—Instructions for house-numbering are contained in Chapter V of the Provincial Census Code. It is laid down that house-numbering should commence after the rains but, in any case, not later than the 15th October and must be completed by the 15th November, 1920. The house-numbering was to be done by Supervisors and this procedure was deemed important, in-asmuch-as it enabled them to become familiar with their Circles, and gave them an opportunity of revising finally their respective block organizations. The Supervisor was accompanied by the Enumerators so that the latter might thoroughly understand the limits and contents of their Blocks.

- 26. Method Adopted.—The chief object to be aimed at during the course of house-numbering, is, not only that no houses should be omitted, but that buildings that are not really houses be excluded. Though instructions in respect of vacant houses were clear enough to be intelligible to a man of ordinary understanding, yet, in certain cases, numbers were affixed to buildings which were not occupied on the Census night. The Supervisors should, therefore, be instructed in future to determine by personal inspection and careful local enquiry which of the houses vacant at the time of house-numbering were likely to be occupied on the Census night. The present practice is that block and house numbers are painted on each house. It would much facilitate the checking and the writing of the House-lists if the number of Circle is also painted on the first and the last house in each Circle, thus- $\frac{2}{10}$ -i.e., tenth house in the fifth block of the second circle. This system was tried in several States this time and proved useful.
- 27. Substance used.—The substance usually employed for house-numbering, was Geru (red ochre) or coal-tar, the former was the most suitable, being cheaper and more lasting. A few houses were found almost in every village which still retained the marks of Geru painted on them in 1911, and, in some instances, even those painted in 1901. Apart from its cheapness and lasting nature, Geru is particularly liked by Indians as being an auspicious colour. I noticed, especially in the case of shops and dwelling houses both in Urban and Rural areas, a tendency to affix numbers on door-shutters, with the result that when they were open no number could be seen. This must be avoided in future. In Ajmer-Merwara, the cost of paint used for house-numbering was defrayed by the Shamlat funds in the Rural areas and by the Municipalities, in the Urban.
- 28. Dates of Commencement and Completion.—The State which commenced house-numbering first was Marwar (1st August, 1920). Jaisalmer, the last, took it up in November, 1920. The State which first completed it, was Dholpur, and the last, Jaisalmer.
- 29. House-Lists.—While the houses were being numbered, House-Lists were being prepared, i.e., forms showing for each village the Census number of the house, the description of the house, and the name of the head of each family. In the City of Ajmer, the House-Lists were not prepared at the time of house-numbering and much difficulty was experienced in getting them prepared after the numbering was over. House-numbering was very thoroughly checked. I inspected a good deal of it myself and found very few cases in which there seemed any possibility of a residence being over-looked.

VI.—THE PRELIMINARY RECORD.

- 30. Dates of Commencement and Completion.—Preliminary Enumeration began on dates varying between 15th December, 1920, and 20th February, 1921, both in Rural and Urban areas of Rajputana and Ajmer-Merwara and was completed everywhere by the end of February, 1921. Details showing the earliest and latest dates of commencement and the latest date of completion in each Unit are given in Appendix E. During this period, the necessary particulars were entered in the Schedules for all persons ordinarily resident in each house. In order to reduce mistakes to a minimum, the record was first made on plain paper and Schedules were not written up till the rough drafts had been passed by the Supervisor.
- 31. Testing of Record.—While the Preliminary Enumeration was in progress and also after its completion, every effort was made to see that no omissions had occurred and that the entries were complete and accurate. I took the apportunity of examining as many draft books as possible while on tour, and, whereever any point of sufficient importance was noticed during the course of inspection, instructions regarding it were circulated to the Census staff in all the States and Districts in the Provinces.

VII.—THE ACTUAL CENSUS.

32. Disadvantage of the date of Census.—18th March, 1921, the date fixed for the Census this time, fell on the day immediately following the last day of the Urs Fair, by which time pilgrims coming for Ziarat were not expected to have left Ajmer. The difficulty was represented to the Government of India, but it was impossible to find a date which would suit the whole of India so well as the above date. The final Census accordingly took place on the night of the date already fixed and consisted of checking and correcting the record of the Preliminary Enumeration, by striking out the entries relating to persons who had died or gone away and entering the necessary particulars for newly-born children and newcomers, so that it should correspond with the state of facts existing on the Census night.

33. Accuracy.—In the Rural tracts throughout the Provinces (Rajputana and Ajmer-Merwara), where practically the conditions on the Census night were identical with those prevailing at the time of the Preliminary Enumeration, the final record after verification, so rare as were the changes therein, appeared to be merely a fair copy of the draft record. In Cities and large Towns, where the work is invariably set with many difficulties, such as the congestion of traffic, etc., special care was taken to see that persons of superior intelligence were selected for the office of Enumerator, and that a larger number of Supervisors than that prescribed by the Code was appointed for the checking of the work on the night of the final Census. In the City of Ajmer, where the Urs Fair threatened the accuracy of the Census results, a proclamation prohibiting people from moving out of their respective houses at the time fixed for starting the work was issued, and this time was announced by the firing of a gun from the Dargah of Bara Pir. These arrangements not only proved effective and successful but also reduced the risk of error to a minimum.

VIII.—THE NON-SYNCHRONOUS TRACTS.

34. The term 'Non-synchronous' is applied to those areas in which the standard procedure cannot be carried out in its entirety. In Ajmer-Merwara, there is no non-synchronous tract. In the Province of Rajputana, the Bhil tracts in the States comprised in the Southern Division, viz., Banswara, Dungarpur, Kushalgarh, Mewar, Partabgarh and Sirohi, were treated as non-synchronous in 1881. Owing to the pronounced repugnance of the people, leading in some instances to a disturbance of the peace, no regular Census could be taken in the above tracts and a guess at the population was made by roughly estimating the number of houses and allowing an average of four persons to each house. At every successive Census since 1881, an attempt has been made to reduce this class of area.

In the Census of 1891, a slight progress was made in eliminating the factor of irregular enumeration, in-as-much-as the tracts lying in Banswara and Partabgarh were enumerated in a more orthodox fashion, but the population of the rest of the area was only approximately estimated on the same system as before; in Dungarpur, the population estimated in 1881, was taken into account in 1891.

In 1901, instead of merely guessing at the population as in 1891, an attempt was made to enumerate the Bhil and Grassia tracts. The people were mustered by the Headmen of the villages at certain centres and counted, details about the absentees being furnished by the Headmen.

In 1911, houses were actually numbered in these tracts in Banswara, Dungarpur, Kushalgarh and Partabgarh, and the enumeration done on the morning of the 10th March, 1911. In Mewar and Sirohi, a list of houses was prepared from information given by the Headmen, which was checked by the record of houses kept by the Darbars for revenue purposes; the Census was taken by summoning the Headman of every house to a convenient spot, shortly before the day of Census, and making him give all necessary information about the members of his household.

In the Census of 1921, the only tract left for non-synchronous enumeration, was the Bhil tract in the Kherwara Bhumat of Mewar. In Dungarpur, Kushalgarh, Partabgarh, Banswara, Sirohi, and the Kotra Bhumat of Mewar, the Census of the tract in question was taken in the ordinary way, with the exception that the final count was taken in the day time of 18th March, 1921. In the non-synchronous tract in Sirohi, the final check was made by collecting the headman of each family at the house of the Patel of the village instead of house to house visitation. Enumeration of the Bhil tract in the Kherwara Bhumat of Mewar was regulated according to the rules contained in Appendix F. It is possible to eliminate the remaining area also if, at the next Census, attempts are made in right earnest to enumerate the Bhil tract of the Kherwara Bhumat in an ordinary way. The Bhils have become more civilized owing to their associations with the Mewar Bhil Corps and may easily be persuaded to co-operate with the Census staff, if the advantages of the Census are explained to them.

IX.—Special Arrangements.

- 35. General.—Instructions for the Census of Railways, Cantonments, Fairs and Road-travellers, etc., are contained in Chapter IV and Appendices I and II of the Provincial Census Code.
- 36. Railways.—The system followed in conducting the Census of Railways this time was quite different from that adopted in 1911. In 1911, Railway authorities conducted the Census themselves, the Enumeration Books, after the despatch of the Provisional Totals, being made over to the Provincial Census Superintendent's office for further action.

In this Census, the work of the enumeration of Railways within Rajputana and Ajmer-Merwara, was placed entirely in charge of the Civil authorities. It was a work of great magnitude and required special attention. The general scheme was as follows:—

The ordinary Railway Centre or Station was included in the Civil Census Charge in which it was situated; the Civil Charge Superintendent of that Charge was responsible for all the arrangements; large Railway stations or Settlements formed Census charges in themselves with Chief Railway Officers as Charge Superintendents, who corresponded directly with British District Census Officers or State Local Census Superintendents concerned. The Train and Station Enumerations were carried out by the Railway authorities as in 1911, but under the direction of the Civil authorities.

The present arrangements for the Census of Railways were quite satisfactory, the States, however, had to incur extra expenditure in the shape of travelling charges of their respective supervising staff. This could have been avoided, had the Managers or the Agents of the Railways concerned issued free travelling passes as urged by me. To make this system generally agreeable, it is desirable that free travelling passes should be issued to State Census Officers. File No. 31, Volumes I—III, of 1921, containing the correspondence connected with the Railway Census, has been preserved for the use of the next Superintendent.

- 37. Cantonments.—Rules for the Census of Cantonments are contained in Appendix II of the Provincial Census Code and call for no comments. There was a large camp of Turkish War Prisoners at Sumerpur, near the Erinpura Cantonment. The question arose as to who should conduct enumeration there. I went to the spot in October, 1920, and, in consultation with the Officer in charge of the Camp, decided that the Marwar officials should do the house-numbering in the Camp and the Military authorities prepare the schedules, in case the prisoners should still be occupying the Camp in February, 1921. The War Prisoners' Camp was vacated in February, 1921, but only a day prior to Census, a Battalion consisting of about 746 men arrived at Sumerpur and re-occupied the Camp. The Cantonment Magistrate, Erinpura, arranged for its enumeration and included the figures in the Cantonment population.
- 38. Fairs.-Luckily, no large Fairs were held in Rajputana and Ajmer-Merwara on the date of the Census, excepting the Urs Fair at Ajmer, for which special arrangements had to be made. There were small local gatherings in the States of Dungarpur, Jaipur, Karauli, Kotah and Marwar. Enquiries were made in time about these gatherings and arrangements settled with the Local authorities. The special arrangements made for the Ajmer Urs Fair are contained in Appendix G.

X.—THE PROVISIONAL TOTALS.

39. Arrangements.—All the arrangements for getting in the Provisional Totals had been worked out beforehand and full use was made of Telegraph and Post, and Rail and conveyances of all other kinds. The making up of the Provisional. Totals began either after midnight of the Census or on the morning succeeding it.

The Enumerators met their Supervisors at the time and place arranged beforehand and prepared the Enumerators' Abstract. The Supervisors prepared similar Summaries for their respective Circles, which, as already arranged, were either taken personally or despatched to their Charge Superintendents. The figures of the Provisional Totals with those arrived at in Tabulation are compared in Appendix H.

- 40. Dates of receipt.—The Provisional Totals first received were those from the Shahpura Chiefship, at 9-30 A.M. on the morning immediately following the Census night; the last those from Jaisalmer, on 26th March, 1921, at 2-22 P.M. Ajmer-Merwara was the nineteenth in order in supplying its figures. Mewar wired its totals as early as 22nd March, 1921, but they were defective as the Chanderia Train Enumeration figures were not included. These figures were only obtained after a prolonged correspondence with the District Locomotive Superintendent, Mhow. The complete Mewar figures were thus not available before the 29th March, 1921, when the Provincial Totals were issued to the Census Commissioner.
- 41. Margin of errors.—Notwithstanding the rapidity with which the Provisional Totals were worked out, the margin of error did not exceed —13 per cent. for each of the Provinces. In the case of eight units, the Provisional and Final figures were identical, in three the difference was less than 10 in number, and in six less than 100; and in three again less than 1,000. There were three Units, viz., Alwar, Jaipur and Mewar in which the difference exceeded 5,000. This was due either to mistakes in calculation or to erroneous inclusion of figures.

XI.—THE INDUSTRIAL CENSUS.

42. Arrangements.—The Industrial Cénsus was undertaken on an extensive scale this time and, as desired by the Government of India, a separate officer was nominated in each State or District for the collection of such local information as might tend to bring out as much of the economic and industrial life of the people in the Provinces as possible. A list of the Officers so appointed is contained in Appendix A. A scheme for industrial enquiry was to be worked out by the Provincial Census Superintendent in close co-operation with the Local Department of Industries on the lines embodied in Census Commissioner's letter No. 394, dated the 15th June, 1920 (File No. 57 of 1920). There is, however, no Local Department of Industries either in Rajputana or in Ajmer-Merwara, nor had any organized or systematic industrial enquiry or survey been made in these Provinces, the literature of which could have rendered any assistance in handling the subject. I had therefore to depend for drawing up my scheme largely upon the Circulars issued by other Provinces or on the knowledge of the various industries in Rajputana gained by me at the Industrial Exhibition held at Beawar (in Ajmer-Merwara) in December, 1919, on the occasion of the Peace Celebrations.

A Conference of all the Industrial Officers was held at the Trevor Town Hall in Ajmer on 15th January, 1921, when a scheme for the general industrial enquiry was formulated. Detailed proceedings of this Conference are contained in File No. 80 of 1920.

- 43. Industrial Establishments Register.—A preliminary Register of Industrial Establishments was, in the first instance, compiled in the form prescribed in the Census Commissioner's letter No. 693-91, dated the 8th September, 1920 (File No. 80 of 1920). The Industrial Officers experienced much difficulty in the preparation of the register, as there were no records in the States from which it could be easily compiled, and they had to conduct elaborate enquiries from place to place to collect the requisite information.
- 44. Industrial Schedules.—The Industrial Schedules were in two parts—(A) showing the character of the mine, factory or other industrial establishment, etc.; nature of articles produced and of ownership; number, sex, and race or nationality of owners (or, in the case of a Limited Company, of Directors); race or nationality of Managers, Supervising, Technical or Clerical Staff employed; number and nature of power engines with horsepower employed if any; and state of industry and number of looms in actual operation employed in Textile industries; and (B) giving details of the operatives as skilled or unskilled and their birth-place.

In 1911, only one schedule of the nature of Schedule (A), but with somewhat less details, was used, and enquiry about the operatives was limited to their number (skilled and unskilled) and sex only.

The distribution and collection of the Industrial Schedules was left to the local officers. These officers distributed them to the Managers of the Factories. Notwithstanding the issue of detailed instructions, the records prepared by the Managers were not quite up to the mark and many omissions had to be filled in after further enquiry. Experience has shewn that it is vain to expect the Managers of Factories to pay sufficient attention to the correct filling up of the forms, and it will save time and trouble if in future special Enumerators are appointed to fill in the schedules, with the co-operation of the factory officials. The ordinary Supervising staff should be held responsible for the accuracy of the entries.

XII.—Supply of Forms.

45. The details of arrangements regarding the issue of enumeration forms, etc., are given in Chapter VI of the Provincial Census Code, Part I. At the end of this Chapter will be found Statement II, showing the various forms in different languages supplied to and used by each State or District in the Enumeration stage. A printed statement showing distribution of forms will be found in the Volume containing forms, etc., preserved for the next Census. To avoid delay and expense, the forms were despatched direct to the States or Districts concerned; those relating to the Enumeration stage by the Press to the Head-quarters, and the rest to the Compilation centres. The Press issued invoices in duplicate, one direct to me and the other to the receiving Officer, the latter sending his acknowledgment through my office. All the forms excepting the Slips reached their destinations in time and it is gratifying to note that no State or District had any cause for complaint.

The form of Circle Summary was so printed that the same form could be used with a slight alteration as Charge Summary. The enumeration forms for the Train and Station Enumerations were supplied direct to the Co-operating Railway Census Officers, those for the Census of the Railway premises and settlements through the District Census Officers and the Local Census Superintendents. General Schedules and House-lists were printed bi-lingually in Urdu and Hindi, one set of headings being printed at the top and the other at the bottom of the form. A limited number of General Schedules was also printed in English. The forms used in the Compilation and Tabulation stages were bi-lingual (English and Hindi), excepting the Compilation Registers which were in English only. This arrangement proved economical and useful and it is recommended that the same system should be continued in future.

XIII.—THE ACT AND NOTIFICATIONS THEREUNDER.

- 46. Census Act.—A copy of the Census Act was supplied to each Indian State. Some of the States passed Acts on the lines of the Indian Census Act, while others issued only executive instructions, which had of course the force of law. Copies of the instructions or the Acts issued by the States, received by the Census office are contained in File No. 62 of 1920.
- 47. Notifications.—In Appendix I will be found the Notifications issued under the Act in the British Districts and published in the second part of the Gazette of India. No Notifications were issued for the States of Rajputana under the Indian Census Act, as it did not apply to them.
- 48. Prosecutions.—Nine persons were prosecuted under the Act in Ajmer-Merwara, one in the village of Kanpura and the rest in the City of Ajmer; of the nine, four agreed to do the work and the cases against them were withdrawn, the rest were convicted and fined from Re. 1 to Rs. 4. The prosecutions were launched under sections 10 (a), (c) and 7 of the Act.

There were no prosecutions in the States of Rajputana, excepting in Karauliwhere seven persons were prosecuted and convicted for obstructing and not helping the Census operations.

XIV.—THE ATTITUDE OF THE PUBLIC.

49. The Census has now become such a recognized institution that, though its objects are not very well understood or appreciated by ordinary persons, it is accepted as a matter of course. The general attitude of the public was one of indifference. The City of Ajmer was an exception to this, where, in many instances, direct opposition to the taking of the Census was offered and the Non-officials generally resented the work as unnecessary and unremunerative impressment. There were notable exceptions but they were very rare. Excepting in towns, where people are generally educated, it would be vain to try to impress upon the masses that Census is a public duty and is of public utility. The effects of Non-co-operation in the States in Rajputana were conspicuous by their absence, while in Ajmer-Merwara, they were apparent in the towns of Ajmer and Beawar, though not in a very active form.

XV.—THE EXPENDITURE.

50. Statement III gives the expenditure incurred by individual States and Districts (exclusive of expenditure by local bodies). The corresponding figures of totals for 1911 are printed in italics for facility of comparison.

Rajputana.—The total expenditure incurred in this Province (including the British District of Mount Abu) amounted to Rs. 1,36,601 against Rs. 93,841 in 1911, shewing an increase of Rs. 42,760 which gives a per centage of 46. The incidence of expenditure, per head of the population enumerated, comes to 2.66 pies against 1.71 at the previous Census—or an increase of 0.95 pies this time. In consonance with the general rise in prices and wages, a rise in Census expenditure was unavoidable everywhere. Bharatpur, Dholpur, Dungarpur and Mewar are exceptions to this, as they show reductions in expenditure compared to the 1911 figures.

Ajmer-Merwara.—The corresponding information for this Province is given

					Rs.
Total expenditure	1911				887

in the margin. The excess in expenditure over 1911 in this Province is proportionately much below that in Rajputana. This increase is attributable almost entirely to cost of Forms which was unavoidable. If the expenditure under this head is excluded, the incidence of expenditure per head of population falls to 0.13 against 0.25 in 1911

(total expenditure minus cost of forms) or -0.12 per head. It is gratifying to find that all possible economy in expenditure was exercised here.

Chapter II.—Slip-Copying, Sorting and Compilation.

I.—GENERAL ARRANGEMENTS.

- 1. Introductory.—The system of Compilation adopted this time was the same as prevailed in 1911, with slight modifications.
- 2. Location of Offices.—In 1911, each State Office was a complete unit in itself, with the State Deputy Superintendent as its head, who was immediately responsible to the Provincial Census Superintendent for the work and corresponded direct with him. Most of the Darbars, whose offices were located out side their own States, sent along with their Deputy Superintendents their own men to work as Copyists and Sorters, etc. The rates of pay were suggested by the Provincial Census Superintendent. But beyond this he had no control over the cost of Tabulation work.

Mr. Kealy, who conducted the Census operations in 1911, strongly condemned this system and suggested that there should be two centres or at the most three (Ajmer, Jaipur and Bharatpur) and at each centre there should be one building only. Each centre should be under the charge of a Deputy Superintendent, who should be appointed directly by the Provincial Census Superintendent. To assist the Deputy Superintendent, a sufficient number of Assistant Superintendents should be appointed, and under these would come the usual establishment, with a few necessary modifications to meet local needs. The Darbars might, he thought, be invited to assist in sending suitable men for employment and it was suggested that the establishment should be so organized and Enumeration books so distributed as to ensure the completion of one Table before another was taken up.

As regards the recovery of the cost, etc., Mr. Kealy proposed that the total pay of the establishment employed should be pooled at each centre and then recovered from the Darbars, whose figures were tabulated at the centre, in proportion to the population tabulated.

The advantages expected to result from such a system, as described by Mr. Kealy, were:—

- (1) Facilities of inspection to the Provincial Census Superintendent,
- (2) Systematic compilation of Tables,
- (3) The Provincial Census Superintendent having correspondence with only a few Deputy Superintendents, and not, as he had to do in 1911, with 20 different officers distant from his head-quarters, and
- (4) The likelihood of the work being completed earlier under the new scheme than was the case in 1911 and the consequent saving of expenditure and time.

The attention of the Darbars was invited to the system expounded by Mr. Kealy and they were requested to state if they would agree to the arrangements in question. Considering the convenience of the States, I proposed four centres instead of three, grouping the States as below:—

Centre.			State offices to be grouped.
Bharatpur			Bharatpur, Dholpur and Karauli.
Jaipur -			Alwar, Tonk, Lawa, Jaipur, Kotah, Jhalawar and Bundi.
Jodhpur			Sirohi, Marwar, Jaisalmer and Bikaner.
Ajmer.			Banswara, Dungarpur, Partabgarh, Kushalgarh, Mewar, Shah-pura and Kishangarh.

As most of the important States were not in favour of the proposal, it had to be dropped and the previous system, with its concomitant evils was again followed. The centres of Tabulation, at this Census, with the offices located at each are given below:—

Centre.				Offices located.
Aimer .				Ajmer-Merwara (including Mount Abu), Banawara, Dungarpur,
•-	,	-		Kishangarh, Partabgarh, Shahpura and Tonk.
Bharatpur				Bharatpur, Karauli and Dholpur.
Jaipur	-			Jaipur, Alwar, Bundi, Jhalawar, Kotah and Lawa.
Jodhpur				Marwar, Bikaner, Jaisalmer and Sirohi.
Udaipur				Mewar and Kushalgarh.

3. Building and furniture for various offices.—Buildings and furniture for the various offices were kindly provided by the various States where centres were fixed. The Jaipur Darbar again placed the temple of Ram Chanderji at the disposal of the offices located there and the Marwar Darbar accommodated the Sirohi, Jaisalmer and Bikaner offices in the Kuchaman Haveli at Jodhpur. The Bharatpur Darbar made the Old Nobles School, a fine spacious building, available for the Karauli and Dholpur Offices. The experience gained during the course of the present Census amply justifies the opinion that the present system, under which each State has its own separate office, not only causes delay in the Tabulation work but is also expensive to the Government and States concerned and should be abandoned. The Provincial Census Superintendent should organize the Tabulation offices at centres, which should not exceed two in number, just as he does for Ajmer-Merwara, the cost being recovered from each State in proportion to its population. As regards centres, Jaipur and Jodhpur seem to be the only two places where the clerical staff can be conveniently obtained at a moderate cost. Ajmer, being very costly both for the employer and the employé, is not a suitable place for a centre. The location of offices at these centres can be made as under:—

Jaipur, Alwar, Bundi, Kotah, Jhalawar, Tonk, Bharatpur, Dholpur, Karauli, Lawa and Kishangarh at Jaipur. Jodhpur, Bikaner, Sirohi, Jaisalmer, Banswara, Partabgath, Dungarpur, Mewar and Kushalgarh at Jodhpur.

Ajmer-Merwara and Mount Abu might remain, as at present, under the personal supervision of the Provincial Census Superintendent.

To the advantages explained by Mr. Kealy may be added the saving of worry to States in finding establishment for their respective offices. The State Superintendents would simply have to send the Schedules to the Central offices where the subsequent operations from Slip-copying onwards could be undertaken.

If, for any reason, the above proposal were not agreeable to the Darbars and the present system of having separate offices for each State continued, the most practical scheme would be that suggested by some of the State Superintendents, viz., that the State offices should go to centres of Tabulation after they had finished the Slip-copying work in their respective States. This scheme was tried in two or three States on this occasion, and proved economical both in respect of time and expenditure.

- 4. Opening of Offices.—The date suggested for the opening of offices at the Centres was the 25th March, 1921, but, with the exception of those State offices which had not to move, Karauli was the only State which observed punctuality. Kushalgarh was the last to be at the centre and opened its office as late as the 25th May, 1921. The actual work could not be taken in hand before the 2nd April, 1921. Dholpur, however, did not send its office to its centre at Bharatpur at all, but carried on the work at its head-quarters.
- 5. Issue of instructions.—A copy of the Provincial Code, Part II, which contained exhaustive instructions on Slip-copying, Sorting and Compilation was issued on the 1st February, 1921. Further instructions were printed, in the shape of memoranda in Hindi for the guidance of Supervisors and issued in good time in sufficient numbers to each Local Census Superintendent for distribution among the officials concerned.—Additional circulars issued on the subject will be found in File No. 250 (Slip-copying stage) and 251 (Compilation and Tabulation stage) both of 1921.

II .- SLIP-COPYING.

- 6. Abstraction Slips.—The colour of, and the symbol on, the Slips were the same as in 1911. One Slip was used for each person. In round numbers the total number of Slips printed this time was 14,117,600 (including 817,567 Slips printed locally by States). The number of Copying Slips issued to each State will be found in Appendix N. Irrespective of whether Slip-copying is done at the State head-quarters or at Central places, it is most essential, not merely on grounds of economy but also for the sake of the expeditious completion of work, that Slips should be ready long before the actual date of the Census. Final orders for the printing of Slips were given to the Perry Press, Lucknow, as early as the first week of September, 1920, but their despatch did not commence till as late as the 21st March, 1921.
- 7. Progress of work.—Statement I gives the population dealt with, the progress made by Copyists and the staff employed in the Slip-copying offices. It also shows the period which each unit took in finishing the work. Mewar, Dungarpur and Kotah were the only offices which took more time in doing so than the prescribed limit of 40 days. The average daily number of Slips which a Copyist was required to copy was fixed at 500, which was not reached anywhere in the Provinces. Bharatpur worked up to an average of over 400 Slips, per head per day, in the first week and attained the maximum of 555 when the work was in full swing. Individual Copyists in the Kishangarh and Jaipur offices are reported to have copied out from 750 to 1,500 Slips per day, but such exceptions were rare. The highest general average was attained by the Sirohi State (446) and the lowest by the Municipality and the Tahsil at Beawar (121). The reason why the outturn was so low at Beawar was that the Copyists had other work also to do. It now appears that the standard of 500 Slips a day was much too high to expect and could not be reached with a substantial degree of accuracy. Swiftness, combined with efficiency and minimum cost, can only be attained if the standard is lowered to 400.

8. System of payment.—The system of payment was not uniform everywhere. Banswara, Dholpur, Dungarpur, Karauli, Kishangarh, Lawa, Partabgarh and Shahpura engaged Copyists on fixed monthly pay, which varied from Rs. 8 to Rs. 25 a month. Shahpura, which paid the lowest, allowed free board and lodging to its Copyists. The reason why these States adopted the monthly pay system was to its Copyists. The reason why these States adopted the monthly pay system was, either because they could secure permanent State servants or found it impossible to get Copyists on the piece-work system.

2. Alwar 029 Extra allowances to the maximum limit of 50 per cent. of their pay were granted to permanent State servants. Bharatpur, Dholpur 019 Cook done by permanent staff and temporary clerks).

8. Dungarpur 029 System. The remaining States adopted payment by task-work.

The average cost, at which a hundred Slips were copied in each State, is given on the margin. In the Abu District, the work was conducted through the permanent staff without the payment of any remuneration. In Ajmer-Merwara, Slips for rural areas were copied by Patwaris in the Ajmer, Beawar and Todgarh Tahsils, who were paid remuneration at the rate of four annas per hundred Slips. The work of Slipcopying for Ajmer City and Beawar Town was done by the Municipal Committees concerned at their own expense.

9. Rewards and Fines.—In all the States, in which Copyists were engaged on fixed pay, fines were inflicted for short work. Of those, which adopted piecework system, Alwar, Bundi and Bikaner report that fines were inflicted for short work, while in Jhalawar, Bharatpur and Kishangarh rewards were given for good and rapid work. In no other State nor in Ajmer-Merwara were fines inflicted or rewards given. In Mewar, some of the Thikanas are reported to have had their Slip-copying done on the contract system.

10. Checking.—Appendix J gives details of the establishment employed in each copying office. All these offices were under the charge of a Deputy Superintendent. The procedure of checking followed this time was the same as prescribed in paragraphs 9—11 of the Provincial Census Code, Part II. The complete staff employed in Rajputana (excluding Abu) is given on the margin. Supervisors compared every Slip with the Enumeration book and the Deputy Superintendents and Inspectors examined the work in the course of copying operations. After the Slips had been passed by the Supervising staff, the Deputy Superintendent personally checked 5 to 10 per cent. of them. This part of the work was, on the whole, carried on energetically and carefully both in Rajputana and Ajmer-Merwara.

Most of the Deputy Superintendents are of opinion, that ten Copyists is too large a number to be carefully looked after by a Supervisor and his Assistant. When the work was in full swing, the Supervisor invariably found himself unable to check the Slips and had, every now and then, to engage additional assistants. The experience gained by me during my visits to the various offices leads me to think that the number of Copyists under a Supervisor and his Assistant should be reduced to 6.

- 11. Accuracy.—The standard of accuracy obtained in copying could be judged from the result of references made to the Enumeration books during the process of Sorting and most of the Officers-in-charge (including my Deputy Superintendent who occasionally visited the offices centered at Ajmer) hold that the Slip-copying was on the whole accurate.
- 12. Abbreviations.—In addition to the abbreviations sanctioned (a printed list of which was issued to all concerned and is contained in the Volume of the Forms preserved for the next Census), the following few were also used:—

Jhalawar used Af for the Sondhia caste and the Sondhwari language; Bundi,

For the Hārauti language and For Kherwari. Jaipur used

For use and To To literates in Hindi and Urdu respectively, whilst Kotah used no abbreviations except  $\Theta$  for the Hārauti language.

No abbreviations were used in the Abu District. In Ajmer-Merwara, a few of the sanctioned abbreviations only were used.

- 13. Language used.—Hindi was invariably used in all the offices excepting Tonk where Urdu was employed. In Abu, Alwar, Jaipur, Kotah and Ajmer-Merwara, English entries in the schedules were, to some extent, transferred to the Slips in English. The use of the Hindi language in Slip-copying is considered most useful and conduces to a correct reproduction of entries.
- 14. Industrial Slip-copying.—The Slip-copying of the entries in the Industrial Schedules was done in my office, both for Rajputana and Ajmer-Merwara. Samples of Slips used will be found in the Book of the Forms preserved for future use. Entries in Schedule A were copied on white Slips; those in Schedule B, for Skilled labourers on red Slips, and for unskilled—on brown. Sex was indicated by symbols as detailed on the margin. A separate staff of Copyists, under a Supervisor, was engaged for this work and the permanent Deputy Superintendent was in charge.

15. State and District Reports.—Reports on the Slip-copying stage from the various units will be found in File No. 193 of 1921.

III.—SORTING AND COMPILATION.

- 16. General Arrangements.—Apart from the instructions in the Provincial Census Code, Part II, rules were printed in English and Hindi on separate sheets for the sorting of each Table and issued for the guidance of Supervisors and Sorters. As in 1911, no separate rules for Compilation were considered necessary, those in the Code being thought quite clear. Some of the Deputy Superintendents have, this time, urged the necessity of a separate set of rules for the compilation of Tables and the question is one for the consideration of the next Provincial Census Superintendent and has my strong support. The various circulars issued by me on the above two stages of the work will be found in File No. 251.
- 17. The Unit of Abstraction.—'The Unit of Abstraction in Census' means the smallest unit for which details for each Table are actually compiled. As in 1911, an Administrative Division and a Town each formed a unit of Abstraction in this Census. The total number of such units was 411 as against 403 in 1911, and the names of the present units will be found in Provincial Tables I and II, at the end of the Volume of Imperial Tables. Unlike 1911, Railway stations were treated as part and parcel of their respective Administrative units within which they happened to lie. The figures of the Erinpura, Kherwara and Kotra Cantonments were also tabulated in the offices of the States in which they are respectively situated, each Cantonment being considered a separate unit for all purposes. The Imperial Tables in final form were drawn up in the State offices. In 1911, statistics of the Railway and Cantonment areas were tabulated in the office of the Provincial Census Superintendent. The State offices were thus not in a position to draw up their Imperial Tables in the final form and this portion of the work had therefore to be done in the Provincial office. The procedure adopted on this occasion was appreciated by the Local Census Superintendents and proved highly conducive to the preparation of Imperial Tables in a comparatively shorter time and at lesser cost.

- 18. Making up of Boxes.—The record room staff made up boxes of Slips for sorting, as soon as they received the Slips and finished checking them with Register A. A Sorter was given two boxes (one containing Slips for males and the other those for females) and had, in round figures, not more than 17,000 Slips to sort. The number of boxes sorted by a Sorter for each unit in a State or District will be found in File No. 223, Volume II, of 1921. The earliest to start work was Bharatpur, which commenced on the 16th May, 1921. The work was finished by the 13th July in all the offices, Kotah being the last. Appendix K contains the details regarding each unit.
- 19. Difficulties in Sorting.—Imperial Tables I—VI are compiled from Register A, which is written up in the Slip-copying stage and no special sorting is therefore required for them. Of the rest, the most difficult to sort are XIII, XVII and XXI owing to the numerous and variegated nature of the entries in the Caste and Occupation columns of the General Schedules.

Table XIII—Caste.—An index of castes returned in the Census of 1911, was, as recommended by Mr. Kealy, issued to all the Local Census Superintendents in November, 1920, when the preliminary enumeration was in progress. It helped them materially to decide references made to them by their respective Supervisors and Enumerators and resulted in more accurate entries being made in the Schedules. The Census Superintendents were, at the same time, called upon to submit a complete list of castes actually returned at the Census, together with recommendations for their classification, in the light of the suggestions made in the index and of their enquiry on the spot. Before the actual sorting for the compilation of Table XIII was taken up, the list of castes so received was scrutinized in my office and returned with my orders in cases of new, doubtful and vague entries. This not only led to the saving of a lot of trouble and time to the local offices but also secured accuracy in Sorting and Compilation. Again, lists of castes by religion to be presented in Tables IX, XIII, XIV and XXI were printed and issued in sufficient numbers for distribution among the Sorters. The Castes comprised in each religion were printed on separate sheets of paper of the colour corresponding with that used for its respective Slip.

The work of Sorting was commenced with the castes which were most numerously found in 1911. No classification of doubtful entries was, under any circumstance, allowed to be done by Sorters. Every such case had to be referred to the Deputy Superintendent who, after consulting the list of castes decided the question himself or made a fresh reference to me. I recommend the same course to be followed at the next Census. Castes returned at this Census will be found in Appendix L.

Table XVII—Occupation.—This table is exceedingly intricate, both for Sorting and Compilation. The entries in the Slips are of a varied nature and many times more than the number of caste names. Much difficulty and labour was avoided by the following process:—

A list of the ninety most popular occupations of 1911, was issued beforehand and the Deputy Superintendents were asked to begin sorting with the thirty occupations most numerously followed in their respective States. They were requested to prepare a complete list, in alphabetical order, of all the occupations actually returned in the Schedules while Slip-copying was in progress and to submit it to me with their recommendations, according to the Classification Scheme and the Index of Occupations, copies of which had already been supplied to them in advance. These lists were scrutinized in my office on receipt and were returned to them after an appropriate occupation group number had been given against each entry.

Sorters were in no case allowed discretion in the classification of occupations. It was insisted that each occupation, as it was entered in the Schedule, was in the first instance to be sorted. Identical occupations were to be thrown together by Sorters who had instructions invariably to make references to the Deputy Superintendent in cases of doubt. Mistakes commonly made by Sorters were (a) confusion of Industrial Occupations with the corresponding Trade Occupations, and (b) confusion of Slips of Partial agriculturist with those of others. It is all important that, before the Compilation work begins, the totals in Sorters' Tickets should be compared with the total number of Slips in the boxes as given in Register J, and this comparison of totals should be continued throughout the early stages of Compilation. The instructions were found to be quite clear and workable and tended to accurate results.

The list of all the occupations actually returned at this Census will be found in Appendix O, Parts I and II. The former Part shows Occupations classified by Groups, and the latter, Occupations arranged in alphabetical order—Group numbers being given against them.

Table XXI—Occupation by Caste, etc.—In 1911, the Imperial Table XVI, which corresponded with this Table, was compiled for Europeans and Anglo-Indians only and that too in a much simplified form. Table XXI of this Census was very much more elaborate and was not confined to Europeans and Anglo-Indians alone but was extended to such castes as represented every strata of society having a definite Traditional occupation. The mistakes in sorting were practically analogous to those in Table XVII, as also of mixing up the Traditional Occupation with any other, in the primary division of Slips. It must be remembered that the total number of Actual Workers in columns 4 and 5 will tally with the total of columns 7 to 62, excluding columns 9 and 10. It is desirable that the number of castes for this table should be curtailed next time, if practicable.

Other Tables.—Tables, other than those above mentioned, did not present much difficulty either in Sorting or in Compilation.

- 20. Industrial Tables.—The Sorting and Compilation connected with the Industrial statistics was wholly done under my direct supervision by a set of four Sorters with a Supervisor. No difficulty was experienced in respect of these Tables.
- 21. Progress in Sorting.—Statement II exhibits, for the two Provinces together, the progress made in the sorting of Slips month by month, and Appendix K gives the dates of commencement and completion by States and Districts of the three stages of the work, viz., Making up boxes, Sorting, and Compilation.
- 22. Establishment employed in Sorting and Compilation Offices.—The strength of each class of establishment employed by a State or District in the Sorting and Compilation offices is given in Appendix M.
- 23. Number of Forms issued.—Appendix N shows the number of Abstraction and Industrial Slips, Sorters' Tickets and Compilation Registers issued to each State. File No. 252 contains information of the number of Slips of each denomination (excluding wastage) used in each State or District in each of their Administrative unit.
- 24. Preparation of Subsidiary Tables.—The preparation of Subsidiary Tables requires great accuracy and very intelligent supervision, and their preparation should be taken up in hand as soon as the connected final Table is passed by the Census Commissioner. This will enable the taking up of the writing of the Report at a much earlier date.
- 25. Expenditure in Indian States.—The expenditure incurred by each Indian State on the Tabulation Stage is given in Appendix P.
- 26. General Remarks.—The form of the Compilation Register should, as far as possible, be identical with the form of the relative final Table. For purposes of cross-checking a column for totals should be provided on each page of every Compilation Register, where this has not been done, and particularly in those which have two or more pages, so that mistakes can be easily detected.

CHAPTER III.

Cost of the Census.

1. Treasury and Departmental Accounts.—Statements I and II appended to this Chapter present the details of expenditure under the various heads as prescribed by (1) the Census Commissioner and (2) the Comptroller-General. Statement II compares the figures of the Departmental Accounts with those of Treasury Accounts, the former differing from the latter, in-as-much as the Departmental Accounts include the full salaries of Officers deputed to Census, while the Treasury Accounts show only the extra expenditure which, but for the Census, would not have been incurred. On the occasion of the present Census the only Officer on deputation was the Superintendent.

The figures in both the statements give actual expenditure up to the end of November, 1922, and an estimate of probable charges up to the date on which the Census office might be closed.

2. Comparison of present expenditure with that in 1911.—For the purposes of comparison with the previous Census, the figures will be taken from the Departmental Accounts. The actual cost of the Operations, so far as it can be estimated, comes to Rs. 1,11,529 against Rs. 1,07,178 in the preceding Census, giving an excess of Rs. 4,351 this time. This low excess in expenditure is attributable chiefly to the difference in the salaries of the Superintendents of the Operations in the Census of 1911 and 1921. If the amounts of these salaries are deducted, the total expenditure would remain (Rs. 1,07,178-51—Rs. 63,304-13-1) Rs. 43,873-8-0 for 1911 and (Rs. 1,11,528-13-11—34,966-10-8) Rs. 76,562-3-3 for 1921, giving an excess in expenditure of Rs. 32,688-11-3. This excess is attributable almost entirely to enhancement in cost of paper and in Printing charges and abnormal rise in the pay of establishment. The main items showing excesses are:—

The following figures compare the incidence of expenditure, per head of population of the two Provinces combined, incurred in the present Census with that in the one preceding it, according to Departmental Accounts:—
